

The Results Are In Farella New SGA President

by Yannis Souris

Ben Farella, a third year Sports Administration/Economics student is the new Students' General Association (SGA) president, according to unofficial results released by Leanne Todd, the Chief Returning Officer of the SGA general elections.

Todd announced the winner late last Friday.

According to Todd, Farella won by a 63 vote margin. Sheena Weir was the presidential candidate to come second winning 266 polls (Farella won 329 polls).

"I'm thankful to all people who voted," an excited Farella told Lambda. "I'm thankful for all the support I got from campus, I could not have done it by myself," Farella added.

Although this year's elections featured seven candidates and everybody expected a major distribution of votes amongst them, Farella finished with about 30 per cent of the total vote. The percentage doesn't reflect majority, but it is indicative of Farella's clear win.

"I'm happy the students gave me the chance to represent them," Farella said.

The position of the Vice-President External was won by Dave Filion. Filion finished 250 votes ahead of runner-up Ian Wilkinson. Also, the new Vice-President Internal is Bill Misener who won by 40 votes over second-ranked John Walsh. John D'Agostino won the Vice-President Services position.

Farella feels all students elected to vice-president positions are very capable student politicians and will do a great job next year.

"I'm looking forward to working with the VPs, I think we can be a good team," the president elect said. "I have no problems with the elected vice-presidents whatsoever."

Although Farella is confident and determined to make a good SGA president, he feels he has to learn a great deal about the Association before he is able to act as president.

"I want to absorb as much as possible and learn a lot," Farella said. "I'm planning to stay here during the summer and get familiar with SGA business," Farella said.

Farella has already set his priorities.

Nouveau Conseil de l'AEF

Lyse Lamothe est la nouvelle présidente de l'AEF. Malgré qu'elle ait été élue par acclamation, elle croit posséder les qualités requises pour occuper ce poste. Ses trois années de travail au sein de l'AEF sont la preuve.

Mademoiselle Lamothe est particulièrement fière des réalisations du précédent conseil. "Ginette a su démontrer un esprit francophone comme il n'en a pas eu depuis longtemps à l'université," nous dit-elle.

Néanmoins, la nouvelle présidente ne veut pas se prononcer immédiatement sur les nouveautés à apporter. Elle préfère discuter avec les membres du conseil. Aussi, elle ne croit pas que sa position lui permette de prendre des décisions individuelles. "La présidente n'est pas le membre le plus important, elle n'est que le porte-parole de l'AEF", souligne-t-elle.

Lyse Lamothe voudrait féliciter le conseil 1985-1986 de ses réalisations et elle espère que celui de cette année puisse faire aussi bien.

Luce Gaudet est la nouvelle trésorière de l'AEF. Elle a posé sa candidature à ce poste quand elle vit le manque d'intérêt des gens. Etant une francophone active et voulant aider l'AEF, elle n'a pu s'empêcher de se présenter.

Pour l'instant, elle attend que le nouveau conseil soit entièrement formé pour proposer quoi que ce soit. Une chose lui tient à coeur néanmoins: la publication du budget et du rapport financier. "Les membres de l'AEF ont le droit de savoir où se dépense l'argent", nous dit-elle.

En outre, l'AEF fait des dons. Il serait bon, nous dit la nouvelle trésorière, de fixer des dates d'échéances pour que tout le monde puisse demander des dons. De cette façon, les gens seraient au courant et auraient la chance d'en profiter.

Avec la publication du budget du rapport financier, les membres de l'AEF sauraient où va l'argent. "Les étudiants ont le droit de savoir et j'ai l'intention de leur montrer", conclut-elle.

Elections

L'équipe de l'Élan aimerait offrir toutes ses félicitations au nouveau conseil de l'AEF. La plupart des candidats ont été élus par acclamation, sauf les candidats se présentant à la vice-présidence. Le vote pour ce poste a eu lieu mercredi le 19 mars, 1986 de 12h30 à 13h30 au Pavillon Alphonse-Raymond et de 9h00 à 16h00 à l'Entre-Deux. Guy Pilon a remporté le poste de vice-président avec 72.4% des votes.

Plan for Success

Chartered accounting is synonymous with success—success in public practice, business, industry, government and education.

CA's are in demand, whether it's to lend credibility to financial statements or as independent business advisers, computer specialists and corporate leaders. That spells success in any language.

Just ask one of Ontario's 798 successful young men and women who qualified to become CA's in 1985. Or ask one of the many CA's who have qualified since 1981, representing an 85 per cent success rate.

Then ask yourself. Do you want a financially rewarding career as a chartered accountant? If the answer is yes, call information services at the Institute for details about entering the program.

Whether you are in arts, science, engineering, law or commerce, the CA profession has a place for you.

CAPE: Implementing it at Laurentian

by Colleen Thorpe

The Campus Alcohol Policies and Education (CAPE) programme, a project currently underway on campus, is intended to teach students about the dangers of drinking, CAPE organizers said.

Laurentian is one of the many universities throughout Ontario where the programme is now being implemented.

The object of CAPE "is not to stop drinking altogether," said Lucy Luciano, SGA vice-president internal and active member of the CAPE committee.

Paddy Blenkinsop, coordinator of student activities and chair of the CAPE committee says the programme is being developed on campus "to promote sensible attitudes towards the use of alcohol."

Along with Luciano and Blenkinsop, some 17 people are involved with the Laurentian CAPE committee. Pauline Barbeau from the Health Services, student representatives from SGA, AEF and ALPS councils, are part of the programme as well. Also, Reggie Caverson from the Addiction Research Foundation is the committee's advisor.

Outlining the committee's achievements, Blenkinsop said, "We've had a number of workshops and we even organized a non-alcoholic beverage competition."

Participants, who included Alex Bauman, and the presidents of the three student organizations were asked to judge the best of the non-alcoholic drinks.

The competition, which took place in December received attention from the Sudbury press.

The CAPE programme is built around two components, organizers said.

The first part consists of a series of policies such as having only trained bartenders to work at the Pub, and fixing standard prices on alcohol throughout the campus. The committee hopes to present these ideas to SGA, AEF and ALPS, as early as next year.

The second part of CAPE is educating the students about alcohol. The campaigns "will be mostly directed to first year students," said Luciano. Posters, buttons, and literature will be distributed.

Another idea the CAPE committee is working on is providing some sort of student transportation for special events held off-campus.

"We want to demonstrate that we are doing everything to ensure the safety of our students," said Blenkinsop. "More and more universities are shouldering the blame for accidents caused by over-drinking."

Up until now, Blenkinsop said they have had more negative than positive response because of misapprehensions of what the committee is trying to do.

Members of the committee are trying to encourage better attitudes and greater moderation with alcohol.

However, Luciano feels that CAPE will be successful because of all the "determined and optimistic" people who have been working on the committee for the past two years.

McMaster University was the first to try out the CAPE programme.

This is Laurentian's first year with CAPE and the committee is finalizing the preparations for next year's campaign. As Luciano said: "The hardest thing will be trying to get students to give it a chance."

University Operating Grants For Northern Ontario Universities

Ontario universities and related institutions will receive more than $1.326 billion in basic and special operating grants in 1986-87, Colleges and Universities Minister Gregory Sorbara announced last week.

This amount includes $40 million of the $50 million in special grants from the UNIVERSITY EXCELLENCE FUND which was announced in October 1985, as well as a $47,785,000 increase in basic operating grants over 1985-86.

"Overall, the government is providing an increase of approximately eight per cent over the amount of basic operating grants made available in 1985-86," Sorbara said. "With these increases, I am confident that we have made a good start on redressing the legacy of underfunding Ontario universities."

The five institutions in the Northern Ontario region will receive a total of $55,506,000 in basic and special operating grants.

Lakehead University — an increase of $1,465,000 to $23,343,000

Laurentian University — an increase of $1,612,000 to $24,549,000

Algoma College — an increase $165,000 to $2,072,000

Nipissing College — an increase of $348,000 to $4,691,000

Hearst College — an increase of $48,000 to $852,000

Sorbara also clarified how two components of the University Excellence fund will be structured. The fund's $25 million LIBRARY ENHANCEMENT AND STUDENT EQUIPMENT component will be distributed to institutions on the basis of their 1985-86 weighted enrolment.

This component of the fund will be used to assist institutions in making additional acquisitions of library reference materials and equipment, urgently required teaching aids, computers, laboratory and scientific equipment for instructional purposes as well as expenses associated with these purchases.

Sorbara underlined the government's intention that funds used under this component be additional to those which the universities would normally spend for library reference materials and student equipment.

The $15 million RESEARCH LEADERSHIP component of the Excellence fund will assist the universities in acquiring research equipment, specialized equipment facilities and highly skilled technical and professional research support staff. It will be distributed on the basis of the value of sponsored research conducted by each institution over the period 1982-83 through 1984-85.

Distribution of the $10 million FACULTY RENEWAL component of the Excellence Fund requires further consideration, Sorbara said.

The Minister added that he has received advice from several sources that the goals of this component could not be effectively addressed by a single-year program.

An announcement on its distribution will be made in the near future.

Can Lambda Be a Campus Paper?

As March is rolling out and the Lambda staff are getting burned out very much, it's time for us to think what we are going to do next year.

Some of the staff decided to run again, some are looking actively for a real job in the real world, some just wanted to go away and forget about Lambda and the misery of putting together a paper instead of passing courses, and some are still thinking of how to improve the paper administratively, financially and editorially.

So, at a meeting we held two weeks ago, we decided that Lambda is not the organ of the SGA anglophones only. Yes, indeed we get our money from SGA members and therefore it's them we publish this paper for. However, every Lambda staffer believes that this paper can address issues that concern all members of the Laurentian community; the anglophones, the francophones, the part time students, the faculty.

We thought that if AEF (the French student Association) and ALPS (the Part Time Students Association) are willing to pay the levy the SGA students pay currently, then the paper can be theirs as well.

We talked to L'Elan (the French newspaper that publishes sporadically this year) about putting French materials in Lambda. Although the idea is not that bad, many objected at the beginning.

After a long conversation with the L'Elan team, they proposed the 'incorporation' of the french paper into ours for a week. This is only an 'experiment' and is to find out what both sides (anglophones and francophones) have to say about this change and how they are going to react.

If the outcome of this effort is positive, then we'll know that we can proceed with our plan.

But what is this plan, you ask.

We propose a bigger, more informative newspaper for next year that will include two and a half pages of french articles and one page ALPS material. We further propose that L'Elan will be published free of production cost for one year and independently of Lambda. A French section autonomy within Lambda will be created and guaranteed as a French editor will be in charge of the entire french section. Also, new positions for an AEF member and two ALPS members will be created on our board of directors to secure that AEF and ALPS money input to the paper is managed properly.

We hope that these proposals will be welcomed by AEF and even by ALPS, and if accepted we can see a better more representative paper on campus next year and in the years to come.

The Main Thing Is That Elections Are Over

Elections are over, almost. Apparently a recount has been requested. John Walsh, candidate for the position of VP Internal has apparently requested the recount as he was only behind Bill Misener by 40 votes. I suppose that it is possible to miscount forty votes but I consider it highly unlikely.

Next year's council was pretty well what we expected. Congratulations are in order for Ben Farella (President), Dave Filion (VP External), John D'Agostino (VP Services) and Bill Misener (VP Internal). Actually, congratulations are in order for all the candidates for running good campaigns and being gutsy enough to try to improve our school. The elections put a strain on many of us and I, for one, am glad they are over!

Many people have already started predicting the worst about next year's council and I've already talked to one person who wants to run for the SGA President for 1987-88!! Let's not judge these people before they've had a chance to prove themselves. Obviously because so many people voted, not everyone is going to be completely satisfied. That's life! Give them a chance. By the time September rolls around they should all be familiar with their respective roles.

If you are one of those people who feels that SGA has nothing to offer you and you have no desire to join AEF, there is an alternative. You don't have to join any Association! You have to go to the Tower and refuse to join any association. It would probably take another 10 minutes of your time. Figure out the opportunity cost involved. I'm sure if all of a sudden you found yourself in desperate need of SGA they'd probably let you join! It's something to think about. Just remember this, if you don't join, you have no voice in student politics and the workings of SGA.

The main thing is that the elections are over. It's time to start worrying about other things, exams, for an example. Everyone, for the most part, put on a good campaign and tried their best. Let's give them a few months to learn their jobs, and then if we are not satisfied, we should have the influence to change things.

Jennifer Rush

Correction

Canadian University Press issued the following correction to the article The Ministry of Youth is a Joke which we ran in our #18 issue. The sentence which read "But Martin did not note and applaud Champagne's testimony at the CRTC on behalf of Young Canada Television." the statement should have read "Martin did note and applaud Champagne's testimony at the CRTC...." CUP apologizes for the error.

Stutterers SPEAKEASY

Dear Editor,

Stuttering is a speech handicap that affects about 1% of the population, with males three times more likely to be stutterers than females.

Despite extensive research no definitive cause and therefore no cure has been found, but several hospitals and speech clinics do offer speech therapy which helps to alleviate this frustrating impediment.

There is now a charitable non-profit Canadian organization for stutterers and anyone else interested in the problem. This group, 'SPEAKEASY,' was formed so that stutterers would have a nation-wide network for mutual assistance, information and friendship.

High Noon In SGA Land

by Barry Schmidl

Well, it's over. The annual bout of madness which befalls the SGA (otherwise known as elections) has come and gone. Now that the dust is clearing we can get a clear look at the broken bodies and political careers of SGA Executive hopefuls.

The large number of people running for the SGA Executive meant a much larger voter turn-out than usual. Between 1100 and 1200 people voted for each of the four executive positions. This was one of the highest turn-outs in recent years. As such, it is a great support for the SGA. However, since so many candidates ran for SGA President, the problem has arisen that no one could get anywhere close to a majority of the vote for that position.

When I was elected President of SGA in March 1984, four of us had run for President and I received just over 35 per cent of the vote. Last year, Andrew MacNeil received just over 50 per cent. Ben Farella, this year's President-elect, received 27.9 per cent of the vote.

Farella shouldn't feel that he hasn't received a mandate. If he acts in a competent and efficient manner he will gain the respect that would accrue to a person who received a much larger part of the vote. True, some people may not accept him, but there are always those who cannot accept the winner of an election. If Farella royally screws up the SGA he will probably lose a lot of respect. However, there is no reason to start off thinking that he will. Farella deserves the respect of students. He deserves the help of experienced SGA people. And he deserves to be given assistance with the implementation of his campaign promises.

I must admit, I voted for Michael Erskine. I have every confidence that Ben Farella can do the job, however, and I feel that the SGA is in safe hands. I see no reason to think otherwise and, until I'm given some reason to think otherwise, Farella has my support and my help with his job if he wants it.

The other executive elections were not quite as split up as the Presidential race. In the race for VP Services, the uncumbant, John D'Agostino, received a majority of the vote (the only candidate in any of the four races to do so). D'Agostino's rivals finished quite a bit behind. This should not be taken as a defeat for Martin and

Washington but more as a victory for a competent, experienced incumbent over two untried challengers. If D'Agostino does half as good a job this coming year as he did this past one, SGA will be well served.

The election for VP Internal was the closest race of the four. Bill Misener squeaked by John Walsh by 40 votes. [Editor: John Walsh has asked for a recount.] The surprise in this election was that Karen Keough did not do better. Keough has had experience with the SGA's internal finances and other aspects of the VP Internal's job. It is a bit of a surprise that that experience did not help her out.

Bill Misener received a strong mandate, however, with 43 per cent of the vote. His platform of greater communications with SGA students should stand him in good stead if he follows up on it. Misener's platform seems well thought out. If he implements it, it could prove a boon to SGA by making it more oriented to the grassroots.

The VP External race was quite an entertaining one. This election featured a political unknown (Filion), someone who has been involved with SGA for two years (Wilkinson), and this year's SGA President (MacNeil). Dave Filion received a strong mandate with 48.2 per cent of the vote, finishing about 250 votes ahead of his nearest challenger, Ian Wilkinson.

The surprise is not that a political unknown like Filion got elected by a wide margin (that happens at SGA all of the time), but rather that the incumbent President of SGA finished last in a field of three. I had thought prior to the vote that MacNeil would be a close second to Filion.

Enthusiasm and a willingness to learn and participate is the key to a good VP External. Once Filion immerses himself in the existing student political situation, he should be able to make ample use of the information for the best interests of SGA students.

By this time you might be wondering if it's Barry Schmidl writing this or not. You might be wondering where the old venom is. You might be wondering why I haven't trashed anyone in this article. (Or you might not be for all I know.)

Well, despite my reputation as the Alan Fotheringham of Lambda, I feel that this is not the time to smash people. These four people were duly elected by the membership of SGA. They have not taken office yet and, thus, have not done anything wrong yet. What I said about each of them in this article are my true feelings. There is not one out of the four that I would say will be bad for the job. They all have my support and my help if they want it. All of the defeated candidates and their supporters should assure the winners of this too, that is, if they ran because they wanted to help SGA, rather than just helping themselves.

VOTE

* THIS MESSAGE IS MEANT TO BE TAKEN LIGHTLY. IDEA BY ... THERÉSE & KIT *

The little bit of criticism that I want to include in this article (for you readers who are aggression junkies) is about the notice for the election.

You may have seen the notices in Lambda for nominations a few weeks back. As far as I saw, the only positions advertised were the President, VP External and VP Internal. "What's missing?" you ask. The obvious one is VP Services. However, also omitted were: the four Senate positions, Women's Commissioner, International Student Commissioner and Representative at Large.

Last year, seven people ran for four Senate positions. With so many candidates running this year, God knows how many people would have run. Only four nominations were received for the four positions (Bryan Hill, Brandon Tennant, Mike MacDonald and Richard Nowak). Of the other three, only Women's Commissioner was filled (Nancy Pilon). It would be foolish to assume that this would have happened if the positions had been advertised.

In a year when there was such interest in elected SGA offices, those positions should have been magnets for those students who did not feel that they had the time or the experience to run for an executive position. The potential was wasted.

It's sad that when an executive was elected that brought out student interest, it could not have been expanded to cover other aspects of the SGA. As Andrew MacNeil said, "It was fucked up!"

HOW TO CALL FOR THE BLUE.

Alpine Horn

Those experienced in calling for the clean, true taste of Blue are well aware of the value of doing so in a big way. Perhaps this accounts for the enormous increase in the sales of alpine horns.

Once used almost exclusively in old Julie Andrews movies and in commercials for cheese, the alpine horn is showing up in favourite watering holes across the country.

"Alpine horns are the new growth industry," said one dealer. "Equally impressive..." he went on to add "are the sales of knee socks, lederhosen and Tyrolean hats." It would appear, at least for the moment, that horn fever is upon us. Which means, that it is indeed, time to blow for a Blue.

Bottle Tooting

You may not be the song that makes the whole world sing, but hey, when it comes to stringing together a Doh, a Re and the ever popular Mi, you're no Sonny Bono either.

And what better way to share your gift than by tooting for a Labatt's Blue.

All that's required is an empty bottle of Blue and lungs like Luciano Pavarotti.

Imagine the feeling, when surrounded by friends, you raise a Blue bottle within a millimetre of your lips and toot out a favourite little melody by Iron Maiden or perhaps one of the great standards by the likes of the Big Bopper.

For those of you with more classical leanings, you may want to take a shot at Beethoven's 4th or was it his 5th?

What the heck. Who's counting.

Give up Show Biz?

Never.

Hog Calling

Long an institution at country fairs and ho-downs, hog calling techniques have made their way far beyond the concession roads and split rail fences of our pastoral communities. In countless bars across the country, the once distinctive strains of "Sue-eeeeeeeeeeeeee" have been replaced by the infinitely more lyrical "Blue-eeeeeeeeeeeeee."

As popular as this technique is becoming, you would be ill advised to employ it at any function to which you are required to wear black tie or in the presence of anyone who is more than 20 lbs overweight.

BLUE-EEEEEE!

ONE IN A SERIES OF HIGHLY INFORMATIVE PRESENTATIONS AIMED AT HELPING YOU TO BETTER UNDERSTAND THE DIVERSE MEANS IN WHICH IT IS POSSIBLE TO OBTAIN ONE OR MORE BOTTLES OF BLUE, CANADA'S MOST POPULAR BEER. FOR THAT CLEAN, TRUE TASTE.

Universities
Disappointed
Over Research
Grants

OTTAWA — Canada's university community has expressed "grave reservations and disappointment" over the federal government's stand on university-based research as outlined in Finance Minister Michael Wilson's budget.

The 79-member Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada (AUCC) and the Canadian Association of University Teachers (CAUT) representing 27,000 university faculty, have taken issue with Ottawa's claim that it is increasing funding to the three federal research granting councils by $300 million over the next five years.

The two associations say that funding levels for the core activities of the councils will, in fact, decline in real terms over that period. They say this will have serious consequences for Canada's future research capabilities. Moreover, they point out that the effects of last Wednesday's budget announcement will put Canada even further behind its international competitors in terms of spending on research and development.

The two associations gave mixed reviews to Ottawa's plan to set up a matching grants scheme to encourage the private sector to channel research dollars through the councils. They point out that the academic community would, of course, welcome further opportunities to work with the private sector. At the same time, they note that the private sector is already contributing to university-based research and that it remains to be seen if the proposed scheme will result in the significant increases predicted by the government.

Education Not an Issue for Mulroney

Winnipeg Students Protest
Cutbacks

WINNIPEG (CUP) — Carrying signs reading "Bucks for books not bombs" and "There's no Tory like a lavatory", two hundred University of Winnipeg students demonstrated against federal funding cutbacks February 28.

"The federal government doesn't put post-secondary students as a budget priority and this is our way of showing them that education is a right for all Canadians," said U of W student council internal coordinator Michael Sunley. "It's important for the federal government to realize that education is a vital part of the economy and is necessary for the long term."

U of W student council vice-president Sheena Campbell said the protest was called in response to the federal budget and was designed to make education underfunding a Manitoba election issue.

"I understand the federal debt is a problem but why does the government hit students and the middle class?" said U of W student council president Sean MacDonald. "Why is the priority with the corporations and not the people?"

Conservative senator Duff Roblin told the protestors the reductions in federal transfer payments won't affect the quality of post-secondary education in Canada. Roblin said federal grants for education will increase by $12 million or 6.3 per cent next year.

"The deficit is burdensome," Roblin said. "The government has to borrow just to meet the interest burden."

U of W vice president Carol Drebs said she disagreed with Roblin.

"How does it [the 6.3 per cent increase] address the inflation rate of over ten or twelve per cent?" Krebs said. "It's the standard federal argument. Post-secondary education is a priority with us and we're trying to make it a priority with them. They're just stone-walling us with these numbers."

Not everyone present agreed with the purpose of the protest. "If they can afford to spend their time marching they can go out and find a job," said Tom Sparling, former University of Manitoba student council executive. "It costs $100,000 to educate a student and these students are only paying $1,000."

Sunley said the U of W student council had received letters of support from Manitoba premier Howard Pawley, John Turner, Ed Broadbent and the Canadian Federation of Students.

"This is indicative that all Canadians realize the need for education and the government must act on this now," Sunley said.

Marketing Yourself

Interviewing is a very important aspect of the marketing process. Preparation for the interview is the key to success.

Here are a few interviewing tips:

1. Role-play the interview with a colleague or friend.
2. Research thoroughly the company and the job that you are applying for.
3. Dress appropriately.
4. Arrive 10 - 15 minutes early.
5. Remember, the interviewer is looking for competence, experience and ability to fit into the organization. Therefore, you want to exhibit these traits, both from your résumé and your personality.

For assistance in interviewing skills, attend the Job Interview Workshops (U.C. TV Lounge, Wednesday, March 19 or March 26, 11:30 - 1:00 p.m.)

members of the executive have to be reviewed and defined more clearly," he said. "Also, making students aware of SGA and getting them involved," he added.

Another area the new president feels needs improvement is services.

"One of my highest priorities now is to increase services," he said.

Farella believes that the upcoming year will be a different yet a prolific one for SGA.

"The year coming is the year that a lot can be accomplished," he said.

The new president says that motivation of the students is an important factor in securing the smoother operation of SGA and increased participation.

"After the excitement of the elections, it is important that this excitement and interest is continued," he said.

When asked about his opinion about this year's SGA president Andrew MacNeil, Farella said, "MacNeil accomplished a lot behind the scenes. He straightened up the SGA finances along with controller Dave MacDonald."

The president-elect believes that people like MacNeil are good to have around.

"I look forward to benefiting from MacNeil's experience and knowledge. That will help me go through the transition period," he said.

Farella is also confident of Lambda's support and cooperation next year.

"SGA should utilize Lambda's potential, I look forward to Ted Markle's [new Lambda Editor-in-Chief's] support," Farella said.

The Fast Food Jungle

by Ruthanne Shannon and Sharolyn Brachman

Contrary to popular belief, fast food meals fit into a nutritional lifestyle. Most people tend to deny the value of fast foods due to their high caloric and fat content. However, fast foods do contribute proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals.

There are two sides to every story, and one cannot overlook the negatives associated with fast foods.

CALORIES: Most people can get 1/4 to 1/3 of their daily nutrient requirements in one fast food meal. But, they are also getting half of their days calories.

FAT: The fat content of fast foods is excessively high. Almost half of the calories from a meal at a hamburger or chicken outlet comes from fat. Such a meal provides 50% of a man's daily fat requirement and between 75-100% of what a woman requires daily.

Nevertheless, it seems that the fast food movement is here to stay. Here are some points to help you in the fast food jungle.

•Enjoy the occasional fast food fix. A little is okay, but a lot is not.

•Select simple items. Fewer calories and less fat are in a regular hamburger than a burger with the works. Try items that are baked or broiled rather than fried.

•Fries are okay once in awhile. But if calories and sodium worry you, leave them alone.

•Go where the greens are... many fast food restaurants offer salad bar items.

The fast food jungle is low in fruits and vegetables, so try to make it up the next time you eat.

Confusing, Hypnotic, Believable

By Rick Clouthier

Crossroads, Directed by Walter Hill, a Columbia Pictures release.

In 1934, legend has it that Blues great Robert Johnson made a deal with the devil at a crossroads in Mississippi to be the greatest Blues guitarist in history. In 1986, director Walter Hill has brought back this legend in a much more updated form.

After Johnson had made his deal with the devil he told a friend of his, a harmonica player named Blind Dog Fulton about his deal and then he too sold his soul for a chance to be the best.

The movie begins with a young Blues and classical guitarist named Eugene Martone who is so into the Blues that he is willing to forgo his classical training at Juillard. He looks for the late Robert Johnson's harmonica player in search of a missing Blues masterpiece. Martone, played by Karate Kid Ralph Macchio, is a typical young New Yorker, street-smart and headstrong. He gets a job at a senior citizens' home to find Blind Dog Fulton (Joe Seneca) and find out more about Robert Johnson's lost song.

Marone is convinced by Fulton that he must return to the Mississippi Delta to find the Blues and become a master Bluesman.

Seneca does an admirable job at playing the aging musician/con man. The return to the Crossroads to find the devil and revoke blind Dog's contract is a long and twisting road. It ends in Marone playing a guitar-duel with a devil's representative for the rights to their souls.

The story, though confusing, is hypnotic and believable and the music and the soul of the Blues is most definitely recognizable. The music, played by guitar legend Ry Cooder, is both captivating and authentic. Cooder, you may recall did the sound track for Walter Hill's last musical fantasy Streets on Fire.

Walter Hill has long been a favourite director of mine. He has previously brought us The Warriors, 48 Hours, Streets of Fire and Brewster's Millions. He creates fast, action-packed adventure-comedies that leave little to the imagination or the senses. Therefore, for all you adventure fans, and especially you Blues fans, Crossroads is the perfect combination for you. The music is spiritual and the performances of Macchio and Seneca are both crisp and believable. I whole-heartedly recommend the film and the sound track which I will later review.

On The Turntable

"Music to listen to"

The Cocteau Twins: Tiny Dynamine and *Echoes In A Shallow Bay (Polygram Records)

The Cocteau Twins are probably pop music's greatest enigma. The Scottish trio has released two full LPs previous to this twin EP set and they have always given their fans a lyrical, melodic background to listen to. This music is not dance music or message music, just for listening. On their previous efforts, the well-received Treasure and Heads Over Heels vocalist Elizabeth Fraser, guitarist Robin Bunthrie and bassist Simon Raymonde have provided hypnotic and lyrical music with the haunting vocals of Fraser as an overriding carrier of the group's seemingly incomprehensible theme.

On Tiny Dynamine and Echoes In A Shallow Bay the Cocteau Twins carry their indescribable musical style to its furthest point yet. Vocalist Fraser does not even use the English language, but a strange and haunting language that can only be described as Fraseresque.

The EPs are obviously a rhythmic experiment for the group and have been well received in England and their star is rising in Canada as well. One critic noted that the music was novel "music to listen to." I feel that the Cocteau Twins are an ambitious trio that are definitely unafraid to tackle a new spectrum of music.

The Cocteau Twins follow no particular formula in their approach except that it is highly personal, melodic and distinctly their own. One will probably not hear any AM or FM releases off of Tiny Dynamine or Echoes In A Shallow Bay but its refreshing originality and its shocking sensual flavour will stir senses in you that you probably did not know existed.

Distinct flavour appeals to Laurentian

Broken Windows: *Broken Windows (Independent Recordings)

Broken Windows, formerly the X-Men are one of the most popular bar bands on the Canadian university scene. They hail from Montreal but Steve Klodt, the keyboard player is a Sudbury native who has a long history of playing in bands and says he enjoys returning to the Nickel City.

The EP features four of the band's own songs and was financed and released through their hard work and talent. Lead singer guitarist Bob Walsh wrote or co-wrote all of the songs and provides a quality front man to the new-music band. Besides Klodt and Walsh the other members are bassist Jeff Beauchamp and drummer Luc Pale.

The tracks include the self-titled "Broken Windows," the electric "Boy on Love," and the synth "Give It Back" and "Nevermore." The music is trendy dance-type music for the livelier L.U. crowds yet it has a distinct flavour that obviously appeals to Laurentian.

My favourite cut is "Broken Windows," as it has a more guitar oriented approach (no offense Steve). Yet my favourite Broken Windows tune is not included on Broken Windows and that is "Living in 3-D." The band is currently touring Ontario and hopes to land a recording contract in Europe. All I can say is good luck and keep up the hard work.

Can We Disarm?

A statement by the General Secretary of the CP

The Soviet Union is proposing a step-by-step and consistent process of ridding the earth of nuclear weapons, to be implemented and completed within the next 15 years, before the end of the century.

The 20th century has given mankind the gift of the energy of the atom. However, this great achievement of human mind can turn into an instrument of self-annihilation of mankind.

The Soviet Union is proposing a program of ridding mankind of the fear of a nuclear catastrophe to be carried out beginning in 1986. And the fact that this year has been proclaimed by the United Nations the International Year of Peace provides an additional political and moral incentive for this. What is required here is rising above national selfishness, tactical calculations, differences and disputes, whose significance is nothing compared to the preservation of what is most valuable — peace and a safe future. The energy of the atom should be placed at the exclusive service of peace, a goal that our socialist state has invariably advocated and continues to pursue.

It was our country that as early as 1946 was the first to raise the question of prohibiting the production and use of atomic weapons and to make atomic energy serve peaceful purposes for the benefit of mankind.

How does the Soviet Union envisage today in practical terms the process of reducing nuclear weapons, both delivery vehicles and warheads, leading to their complete elimination? Our proposals can be summarized as follows:

STAGE ONE

Stage one: Within the next five to eight years, the USSR and the USA will reduce by one-half the nuclear arms that can reach each other's territory. On the remaining delivery vehicles of this kind each side will retain more than 6,000 warheads.

It stands to reason that such a reduction is possible only if the USSR and the USA mutually renounce the development, testing and deployment of space strike weapons. As the Soviet Union has repeatedly warned, the development of space strike weapons will dash the hopes for a reduction of nuclear weapons on earth.

The first stage will include the adoption and implementation of the decision on the complete elimination of intermediate-range missiles of the USSR and the USA in the European zone, both ballistic and cruise missiles, as a first step towards ridding the European continent of nuclear weapons.

At the same time the United States should undertake not to transfer its strategic and medium-range missiles to other countries, while Britain and France should pledge not to build up their respective nuclear arms.

The USSR and the USA should, from the very beginning, agree to stop any nuclear explosions and call upon other states to join in such a moratorium as soon as possible.

We propose that the first stage of nuclear disarmament should concern the Soviet Union and the United States because it is up to them to set an example for the other nuclear powers to follow. We said that very frankly to President Reagan of the United States during our meeting in Geneva.

STAGE TWO

Stage two: At this stage, which should start no later than 1990 and last for five to seven years, the other nuclear powers will begin to engage in nuclear disarmament. To begin with, they would pledge to freeze all their nuclear arms and not to have them in the territories of other countries.

In this period the USSR and the USA will go on with the reductions agreed upon during the first stage and also carry out further measures designed to eliminate their medium-range nuclear weapons and freeze their tactical nuclear systems.

Following the completion by the USSR and the USA of the 50% reduction in their relevant arms at the second stage, another radical step is taken: all nuclear powers eliminate their tactical nuclear arms, namely the weapons having a range (or radius of action) of up to 1,000 km. At the same stage the Soviet-American accord on the prohibition of space strike weapons would have to become multilateral, with the mandatory participation of major industrial powers in it.

All nuclear powers would stop nuclear-weapons tests.

There would be a ban on the development of non-nuclear weapons based on new physical principles, whose destructive capacity is close to that of nuclear arms or other weapons of mass destruction.

STAGE THREE

Stage three will begin no later than 1995. At this stage the elimination of all remaining nuclear weapons will be completed. By the end of 1999 there will be no nuclear weapons on earth. A universal accord will be drawn up that such weapons should never again come into being.

We have in mind that special procedures will be worked out for the destruction of nuclear weapons as well as the dismantling, re-equipment or destruction of delivery vehicles. In the process,

Graphic/Link

The Soviet Union program of ridding fear of a nuclear carried out begi agreement will be reached on the numbers of weapons to be destroyed at each stage, the sites of their destruction and so on.

Verification with regard to the weapons that are destroyed or limited would be carried out both by national technical means and through on-site inspections. The USSR is ready to reach agreement on any other additional verification measures.

The adoption of the nuclear disarmament program that we propose would undoubtedly have a favourable impact on the negotiations conducted at bilateral and multilateral forums. The program would identify specific routes and reference points, establish a specific time-frame for achieving agreements and implementing them and would make the negotiations purposeful and goal-oriented. This would break the dangerous trend whereby the momentum of the arms race is greater than the process of

U Central Committee, Mikhail Gorbachyov

g mankind of the atastrophy to be ning in 1986.

negotiations.

In summary, we propose that we should enter the third millennium without nuclear weapons, on the basis of mutually acceptable and strictly verifiable agreements. If the United States administration is indeed committed to the goal of the complete elimination of nuclear weapons everywhere, as it has repeatedly stated, it is being offered a practical opportunity to begin this in practice. Instead of wasting the next 10 to 15 years by developing new, extremely dangerous weapons in space, allegedly designed to make nuclear arms useless, would it not be more sensible to start eliminating those arms and finally bring them down to zero? The Soviet Union proposes precisely that.

The Soviet Union calls upon all peoples and states and, naturally, above all, nuclear states, to support the program of eliminating nuclear weapons before the year 2000. It is absolutely clear to any unbiased person that if such a program is implemented, nobody would lose and everybody stands to gain. This is a problem common to all mankind and it can and must be solved only through common efforts. And the sooner this program is translated into practical deeds, the safer life will be on our planet.

Guided by the same approach and the desire to make another practical step within the context of the program of nuclear disarmament, the Soviet Union has taken an important decision.

We are extending by three months our unilateral moratorium on any nuclear explosions, which expired on December 31, 1985. Such a moratorium will remain in effect even further if the United States for its part also stops nuclear tests. We propose once again to the United States to join this initiative whose significance is evident to practically everyone in the world.

It is clear that adopting such a decision was by no means simple for us. The Soviet Union cannot display unilateral restraint with regard to nuclear tests indefinitely. But the stakes are too high and the responsibility too great for us not to try every possibility of influencing the position of others through the force of example.

The cessation of tests is a practical step towards eliminating nuclear weapons.

The USSR is strongly in favour of the moratorium becoming a bilateral, and later a multilateral, action. We are also in favour of resuming the trilateral negotiations involving the USSR, the USA and Great Britain on the complete and general prohibition of nuclear weapons tests. This could be done immediately, even this month. We are also prepared to begin without delay multilateral test ban negotiations within the framework of the Geneva Conference on disarmament, with all nuclear powers taking part.

Along with eliminating the weapons of mass destruction from the arsenals of states, the Soviet Union is proposing that conventional weapons and armed forces become subject to agreed reductions.

Our new proposals are addressed to the whole world. Initiating active steps to halt the arms race and reduce weapons is a necessary prerequisite for coping with the increasingly acute global problems, those of deteriorating human environment and of the need to find new energy sources and combat economic backwardness, hunger and disease. The pattern imposed by militarism — arms instead of development — must be replaced by the reverse order of things — disarmament for development. The noose of the trillion-dollar foreign debt, which is now strangling dozens of countries and entire continents, is a direct consequence of the arms race. Over $250 billion annually siphoned out of the developing countries is the amount practically equal to the size of the mammoth US military budget. Instead, this coincidence is far from accidental.

The Soviet Union wants each measure limiting and reducing arms and each step towards eliminating nuclear weapons not only to bring nations greater security but also to make it possible to allocate more funds for improving people's life. It is natural that the peoples seeking to put an end to backwardness and seeking to achieve the level of industrially developed countries associate the prospects of freeing themselves from the burden of foreign debt to imperialism, which is draining their economies, with limiting and eliminating weapons, reducing military expenditures and switching resources to the goals of social and economic development. This theme will undoubtedly figure most prominently at the International Conference on Disarmament and Development to be held next summer in Paris.

The Soviet Union is opposed to making the implementation of disarmament measures dependent on the so-called regional conflicts. Behind this is both the unwillingness to follow the path of disarmament and the desire to impose upon sovereign nations what is alien to them and what would make it possible to maintain profoundly unfair conditions whereby some countries live at the expense of others, exploiting their natural, human and spiritual resources for the selfish imperial purposes of certain states or aggressive alliances. The Soviet Union, as before, will continue to oppose this. It will continue consistently to advocate freedom for the peoples, peace, security, and a stronger international legal order. The Soviet Union's goal is not to whip up regional conflicts but to eliminate them through collective efforts on a just basis, and the sooner the better.

No task is more urgent, more noble and humane, than uniting all efforts to achieve this lofty goal. This task is to be accomplished by our generation without shifting it onto the shoulders of those who will succeed us. This is the imperative of our time. This is the burden of historic responsibility for our decisions and actions in the time remaining until the beginning of the third millennium.

The course of peace and disarmament will continue to be pivotal to the foreign policy of the CPSU and the Soviet state. In actively pursuing this course, the Soviet Union is prepared to engage in wide-ranging co-operation with all those who stand on positions of reason, good will and an awareness of responsibility for assuring mankind a future without wars or weapons.

Unicornia: What's Andrea Up To?

Hello U.C.!

I hope everyone has recovered from the formal and the après-formal by now.

I'd like to congratulate all those involved in preparing this year's banquet, it was a great success. I would also like to congratulate our new council members who are: Terry T. (President), Diane C. (V.P.), Pete B. (Social), Christine K. (Secretary), and Bill M. (Treasurer).

There was no "big news" at the formal, Chewy was in rare form though. I think we'll all remember his timely remark during Dan's opening speech.

Full marks for thought, composition, and concise delivery, Chewy! By the way Chewy, how long have you and Joeline been breakdancing as a team? Definitely Dance Fever material.

Other notables: Monique and David won the "Rag-Masters Couple" award, and Anne and Scolby won the "Cut the Tension with a Ginsu-Knife" award.

I'm glad to hear Janet J. apologized to Storm. Too bad you don't play hockey Stormin, I guess someone was looking for icetime.

The après-formal was a good time, with everyone getting up at 9:00 a.m. drinking council beer. Things warmed up in 512 as the boys from all over residence drank themselves to oblivion. Not a shirt was spared, and neither was Darren's Room. Most of his stuff went out the window, and then the window went out.

Dan T. also lost his screen, and C.A. almost lost his paint job.

The pace picked up with a little "breakin'" on 7th, and then it was off to the bars. Everybody arrived safely thanks to the guidance of Sharon "Look Everyone! I'm a Cop" Johnson. Best effort at the bars goes to Shea for his rendition of "If the peelers shoes fit, hang 'em on your ears."

Ozzy didn't make the bars as he decided to sleep off a head injury and make a "bed-pizza." Lisa H.'s boyfriend was another casualty when he performed "Empty-the-abdomen" on 1st floor. Wooki and Sal showed incredible stamina all weekend and were still going strong Sunday morning. 7th floor performed the weekend's "Top rank prank" when Mike G. woke up on 4th floor with his mattress in the vator.

On Sunday, the bellyflop competition was held. Congratulations to U.C.'s very own Greg L. for his 2nd place finish, and Graig C. and Ruthane S. for best costumes.

Stop the Press! Marney meets Enzo in Marv's room (he remembered what locks are for Marv!), Opi and Billy B., Kappy Scoops in S.S.R., I won't say what Andrea's up to, and why don't the girls get free beer during après-formal?

Good night Paul.
J.D.

Stroker's Box

Congrats go out to the new councils for 1986-87. S.L. will be taking over the Res. Council presidency, with Irene, Fred, and Bernie. The College Council — Carole and Sly as the vice-presidents; Marquis, Sylvie C. and Domo as French councillors; Heather, Lisa S. and Pete D. as the English councillors, and R.P. the big president. Tell us Rick, will there be another Philbin taking over after you?

Applications are now being accepted for other positions. Run to take the easy way out of good old U of S — come on, after three years, can't you read labels right? But anyway, we're glad to see you're O.K. and back with us.

Now, S.L. tried to avoid getting back to U of S by visiting Chapleau; after four years, can't you read signs? Or were you showing off your new car!!

New romances... G.F. and S.C. — what's going on? We'll see at banquet!

Steph and John — only friends? M.C. — two weekends in Ottawa — for what? or for who?

L.S. hit the jackpot once again by winning the hockey pool. What's your secret? Getting practice on 1st Blue?

D.Q. fever seems to be the #1 illness at U of S. No matter how poor Stokers are, cars are piled for one more ice cream trip!

Sunday afternoon — sun snow bathing in the back, with a snowball fight, right Monchichi? It could become critical if there're more days like this. Strokettes won their first play off hockey game. Can they keep it up, or will the end like the "A" team?

The year end banquet is coming — buy your tickets because it should be a very good one — who'll be brave enough to table dance this year?

Now, for juicy gossip. Ramms heard that 1st Red guys gave interesting "facts of life" to a frosh. What are French ticklers Pierre? Giving lessons now?

Your Everloving Ramms

Huntington Hilites

Well, everyone should have recuperated from the weekend's events. Congratulations to Rob Norris and his team on their win in curling. He has to wonder if Andrea's father has heard about her classification as a mining person for a few hours on Friday. By unanimous vote, it was decided that once again Patti made the best puddle. But it looked as if fun was had by all.

Then those who got over their curling stiffness in time even made it up to shake a leg at the ball.

However, some people never seem to make it to the best event of the year, right Kelly and Billy? By the way Billy, how's the car mending? It was nice to see so many alumni make it to Sudbury just to go to our ball, despite the fact some alumni had ulterior motives, right Heather, Leslie and Sparky?

Congratulations to numerous people for their achievements mentioned. However, honourable mention goes to Greg on receiving the paddle and zipper for taking the Margot-Timmy award in stride and not blushing too profusely.

On a more serious note, many thanks go out to Ponto for his entertainment both on Saturday night and at the Diabetes benefit.

Then there's Doug, the man who doesn't need a bullhorn to get his comments heard but who might benefit from a book on manners.

Some K-L people are too embarrassed to admit that you live with them.

Must be spring in the air with all the new couples crawling out of the woodwork. Hope you had a nice time at the ball Anne and Brad, and Nancy and Dave. However, it's the couples that appear together after the Ball that are the most interesting right Jim and "Alex"? And poor Tina, shows a little shoulder and ends up Dave-dodging all night.

Questions of the week are: Exactly, who is the Rat? What was the room number of Casey's hotel room? What time did Blair leave Sunday morning?

The Rat

P.S. Ron, will we run out of water Saturday morning?

Thorneloe Thunder

Well, Thunderbirds, we are into the home stretch of the 1985-86 season. Congratulations to the new council members.

Things have been pretty quiet around here with the exception of Friday evening; it was comedy night. It has been proven that we can keep a room clean. It was revealed that Rich belongs to the L.O.U.S. We understand you ran out of clothes again. Derek has brought new meaning to 'that's fresh, that's class, that's windy's.'

It has also been proven that C.D. players are hazardous to your health almost as bad as T'N'T.

Cheryl is still waiting!! It was found that Lisa could not be found again this weekend. Lisa why are you always smiling? And finally we all discovered that Mi-Mi doesn't eat meat. Now, we know why she is as cute as a bunny.

Well, we know that Johnny K. can cook up a storm. He proved that on Friday when he made an authentic Greek dish called Pastichio. In keeping with tradition, everyone broke their plates and danced after supper. Thanx to Mi-Mi and Jemma for the help.

Bridget, tell Rob to go upstairs O.K. ?

Hoss where are you? Not that we miss you, but Derek has had to do it all on his own.

Rob M. went through metamorphosis last weekend turning into a hubba-hubba but alas, all cocoons had to fall apart. Todd's room has been quite a hive of activity. Come on guys, people are trying to sleep. Hugh's room has been quiet this past week. But then, who cares!!

Kim, Johnny K., Ted and Trevor are getting geared up for the Thorneloe players production of Arsenic and Old Lace this weekend. Well, we get a meal anyway.

It was initially thought that C.D.'s and T'N'T are the same but they are not. Does B.L.T. or is it just on the back burner and finally what happened to Z?

As was mentioned earlier, we are in the home stretch and exams are around the corner. Good luck with getting in those final assignments! And now this Byrd has to practice volleyball.

Oh, before I forget, Ted get your own matches!

Intramural Curling Wraps Up

by Dave Hynes and Keith Forrester

Another season of mixed intramural curling has come to a close. The U of S Stokers needed a victory in their final game to clinch first place, and did that with a win over U.C. Swahbucklers.

The fifth placed Huntington Icemen needed an impressive victory over the U.C. Pylons to have a chance at a medal. Indeed, they beat the Pylons and finished in second place.

The battle for third place was a close one with Niagara Sport edging out the Brewers.

Indoor Soccer

By Rob Santarossa

Laurentian's first intramural indoor soccer tournament turned out to be a tremendous success and a great deal of fun for all participants.

The tournament took place March the 9th.

The event opened Sunday morning with a round robin qualifying round to determine the top 4 play-off entries.

Some exciting soccer was displayed by the LU Tigers who led by Dennis Kavaratzis and Martin Wigstall finished at the top of the Coors Light Division with a perfect 3 and 0 record. ISO United finished 2nd providing the Tigers with a very exciting match.

In the Coors Division, Black Jacks who were led by Gino

Castrichino topped the division with an impressive 3 and 0 record. The Pheds were a close 2nd led by Jamie Armstrong.

The play-offs proved to be very exciting as LU Tigers squared off with the Pheds and Black Jacks met with ISO United.

The Pheds came out flying with Jamie Armstrong scoring 4 times in the first 5 minutes to give the Pheds a 4-1 half time lead. The Pheds upped the count to 5-1 before Dennis Kavaratzis and Kempes Ebinerg sparked the Tigers to an astonishing comeback. The final score: Tigers 7 Pheds 5.

In the other semi-final, Carlo and Gino Castrichino led the Black Jacks to an exciting 7 - 4 victory over ISO United. This set the stage for a Black Jack, LU Tiger championship.

The final was a very exciting, well played contest as Black Jacks edged the Tigers by a score of 3 - 2. Once again, it was Gino Castrichino's fine goal scoring ability that won it for Black Jacks; he scored twice.

Honourable mention should go out to the tournament MVP John Walsh, Best Forward Gino Castrichino, Best Goalie Steve Duffy, Best Defender Gary McMann and the Leading Goal scorer Dennis Kavaratzis (18 goals in 5 games).

Women's Hockey

Intramural Powderpuff Hockey is now well into the playoffs. The Laurentian Experience defeated the Pink Ladies by a score of 6-1 to advance to the semi-finals. The U.C. Playgirls beat the U of S Strokettes to advance to the semi-finals, and the Thorneloe Thunderbirds defeated the Huntington Hotshots. The Coachhouse Cavaliers defeated the Commerce Loansharks, but then were disqualified because they knowingly played with an ineligible player. The Commerce Loansharks, then, will go on to play the Laurentian Experience on Wednesday night at 11:00 p.m. the other semi-final game will be played at 10:00 p.m.

Right after the championship game on Sunday, there will be an all-star game between the A and B divisions' top players, as selected by officials throughout the season. This game will get underway at 12:30 Sunday night. Players will be notified sometime this week if they were chosen for the game.

Molson's CUP

by Julie Tremblay & Raymonde Ouellette

With only a few more sports to be completed, University College Residence is leading the standings for both the President and the Molson's Cup.

As the intramural season is slowly winding down, U.C., with its 900 points, is in top spot in the race for the Molson's Cup. Closely behind is the University of Sudbury Residence with 700. Tied in third place for the Molson's Cup are Huntington and Thorneloe with 400 points each. Engineers have 200 points and Single Students' Residence is in last place with 100 points.

As for the President's Cup, once again U.C. is dominating with 1300 points accumulated so far. U of S with 700 points, is followed closely by Huntington who has 600 points. In fourth position are Thorneloe and SSR with 400 points. Engineers close the field with 200 points.

The events that have been completed up to now include men's and women's softball, men's and women's football, men's and women's basketball, men's ice hockey, innertube waterpolo, and, Hawaiian bowling.

Women's ice hockey, European handball, volleyball, curling, and, the belly-flop competition have yet to be completed.

Therefore, with these 5 events left, the winners of these trophies have yet to be determined.

So, be watching for updates of these scores.

Lambda et l'Élan?

Nicole Loreto et Yannis Souris, deux membres du personnel du journal LAMBDA, nous ont fait part, le lundi 17 mars 1986, d'une proposition qui a suscité l'intérêt de plusieurs membres de l'AEF.

En effet, Loreto et Souris invitent les étudiants de l'AEF à devenir membres à part-entière de l'organisme LAMBDA.

LAMBDA offre en premier lieu une proposition à court terme. L'équipe de l'Élan obtiendra dans ce cas plusieurs droits tels que la publication du journal franco-ontarien de l'AEF, l'utilisation du nouvel ordinateur, ainsi que la disponibilité sans frais des services offerts par LAMBDA. L'Élan soumettra une page entière d'articles français qui paraîtront dans le journal LAMBDA. Un membre de l'AEF pourra siéger sur le conseil des Directeurs de LAMBDA afin de se familiariser avec le fonctionnement du journal LAMBDA.

La proposition à court terme prendra fin en 1987 pour donner suite à la proposition à long terme qui suggère que deux pages et demie d'articles français soient intégrées à chaque édition de LAMBDA. En plus, les droits éditoriaux seront maintenus par l'équipe de l'Élan. Quelques membres tiendront les positions de production alors qu'un étudiant de l'AEF siègera sur le conseil des Directeurs de LAMBDA, qui s'occupe des finances du journal.

Le but de l'ensemble est de pouvoir représenter avec efficacité tous les étudiants à l'université et d'encourager le bilinguisme.

L'équivalent de 7.50$, soit 6.50$ pour les opérations de LAMBDA et 1.00$ pour le fond d'acquisition, sera ajouté aux frais de scolarité ce qui veut dire qu'il y aura une augmentation de cotisation pour tous les membres de l'AEF.

Si les étudiants de l'AEF sont majoritairement en faveur de cette proposition, qui à notre avis est de grande importance, l'Élan fera parti intégrante de LAMBDA. En somme, la survie du journal, se trouve entre les mains de tous les membres de l'Association des Etudiants Francophones.

DECIDONS ENSEMBLE LE DESTIN DE NOTRE JOURNAL.

Pas pire pour une mère de famille!

L'empire omnipotent de Marcos s'est enfin écroulé. Depuis vingt ans ce petit homme aux traits impassibles exerce sur les Philippines un pouvoir absolu mais, avec les dernières élections tout a changé. Marcos n'avait pas encore rencontré d'adversaire qui puisse menacer la stabilité de son gouvernement. C'est pourquoi il n'a vu en Aquino qu'une mère de famille ne possédant pas l'agressivité nécessaire pour devenir chef du pays. Cette sous-estimation lui a coûté les élections et en fin de compte, son empire.

Au cours des 17 dernières années Marcos n'a jamais permis que de véritables élections aient lieu aux Philippines. Que ce soit en intimidant les électeurs ou en falsifiant les résultats de vote, il s'assurait toujours la victoire. En effet, dès le début, la carrière politique de Marcos est ternie par des abus de pouvoir et l'élection du 7 février dernier ne fait pas exception aux événements corrompus.

A la grande surprise de Marcos, Corazon Aquino s'est avérée une adversaire de paire. Elle avait l'arme politique la plus efficace: le soutien du peuple. C'est pourquoi Marcos s'est vu obligé d'acheter les votes de l'électorat, de voler les urnes de scrutin et de se payer des hommes de muscles pour forcer les gens à voter en sa faveur.

Marcos se disait vainqueur alors que le peuple chantait la victoire d'Aquino. Chose certaine c'est que le désarroi social grandissait au jour le jour. Les Philippines devenaient l'endroit idéal pour un soulèvement de peuple et bientôt, une guerre civile.

Pris au dépourvu et suite aux conseils du Président Reagan, Marcos a finalement consenti à laisser son poste et à quitter son pays pour chercher refuge aux Etats-Unis. Une cinquantaine de personnes, notamment les membres de son élite, l'ont accompagné. C'est alors que Mme Corazon Aquino prend la relève. Elle accède au pouvoir en tant que représentante élue par le peuple, pour le peuple.

Issue d'une famille riche, Aquino est née le 25 janvier 1933. Depuis sa tendre enfance elle fréquente les meilleures écoles catholiques. Elle étudie à New York, obtient un baccalauréat et entreprend l'étude du droit. Elle est l'épouse de Benito Aquino, le fondateur et chef du parti d'opposition aux Philippines. Pendant huit ans il est tenu prisonnier et il est libéré en 1980 pour chercher des traitements médicaux aux Etats-Unis. A son retour aux Philippines en août 1983, Benito est assassiné.

Cette petite femme d'à peine Marquée par la mort de son mari cinq pieds deux pouces, que les et par les huit années de songens qualifiaient autrefois de emprisonnement, Corazon Aquino passive, s'est avérée ferme comme ressent le besoin de poursuivre le roc. ## Résultats des élections de l'AEF

Angela McAughey sera secrétaire pour l'AEF pour une deuxième année consécutive. Elue par acclamation, elle se dit très déçue du peu d'intérêt des francophones pour leur conseil.

Aussi, elle espère que la bonne entente serait de mise dans ce nouveau conseil de l'AEF. "L'an dernier, nous dit-elle, le conseil en entier a pris ses responsabilités. Ce conseil n'a pas vraiment éprouvé de gros conflits entre ses membres. C'est sûr que chaque personne diffère de l'autre, et il y eut parfois des mésententes. Malgré tout, les membres se sont accordés ensemble".

Mademoiselle McAughey a hâte d'assumer les mêmes responsabilités que l'an dernier. Elle souhaite ardemment que les représentants aux divers postes prennent leur travail à cœur et fassent preuve de maturité.

Alain Bélanger est le nouveau représentant de l'AEF au sénat. Ayant eu à remplacer le représentant de l'an dernier, il adora l'expérience. Cette année, il décida d'occuper ce poste.

M. Bélanger nous explique l'importance de ce poste: "Le sénat se compose principalement des membres de l'Administration qui décident de tout ce qui touche à la francophonie dans l'université Laurentienne. Un représentant de l'AEF responsable au sénat est primordial car la communication est indispensable et doit être développée pour le bien de la communauté francophone".

Le nouveau représentant de l'AEF au sénat est lui aussi très déçu du peu de participation des francophones de l'université et de l'élection par acclamation de la majorité des membres de l'AEF. Il ambitionne de changer tout cela et promet d'exercer sa nouvelle fonction avec professionnalisme.

L'opinion de trois économistes

Micheal Foster, un économiste dollar canadien.

des Economies Foster, pense que la réduction du taux des taxes pour les petites entreprises et corporations, moitié de la réduction du déficit est commençant en 1987, est une bonne nouvelle. Mais, il croit qu'il aurait fallu couper les dépenses du gouvernement car deux-tiers des mesures de ce budget viennent de la poche des Canadiens.

Roger Keane de Midland Doherty croit qu'il faut montrer que le problème du déficit est une affaire critique pour tous les Canadiens. Il dit que l'augmentation des dépenses totales pour la période donnée représente un bon progrès. Par contre, il est insuffisant de dire que la réduction des pertes pour 1986-87 peut arrêter nos craintes au sujet du Micheal Walker, Fraser Institute, dit que moins que la moitié de la réduction du déficit est accompli par l'augmentation des taxes. Il croit que ceci est très important.

Foster donne un "B-" au nouveau budget. Il dit que le budget se dirige dans la bonne direction mais à un pas trop lent. Le budget mérite un "C+", dit Keane.

Il nous montre un certain progrès sur le côté des finances mais il ne va pas assez loin. Walker compare ce budget avec ceux du passé. Il croit qu'il mérite un "A". Toutefois, il mérite un "C", quand on le compare au dernier budget de la Nouvelle Zélande.

Katimavik

Le sénateur Jacques Hébert qui a entrepris une grève de faim le 10 mars, dans le hall du Sénat à Ottawa, puise son courage auprès des jeunes et des adultes qui veulent que le programme Katimavik soit réinstauré.

Dans une lettre adressée au Premier ministre Mulroney, le sénateur a présenté ses objections au sujet de l'abandon de Katimavik. Puisque celui-ci n'a rien fait concernant ces objections, le sénateur a décidé d'entreprendre une grève de faim dans l'espoir de rétablir le programme.

Katimavik, qui veut dire "endroit de rencontre", est un programme où plusieurs jeunes voyagent à travers le Canada et apprennent de nouveaux métiers. Ils reçoivent seulement un dollar par jour et mille dollars s'ils terminent le programme. Dans ce programme, 75% du travail est physique et 25% est attribué au travail social.

Sharon Creelman et Dan McInnis, deux anciens membres de Katimavik ont mentionné que ce programme est enrichissant car il aide les jeunes à décider de leur carrière. MacInnis affirme qu'il a appris à préparer des repas nutritifs avec un petit budget; il a aussi appris à parler français car il vivait dans un milieu francophone au Québec.

Creelman, qui avait seulement une neuvième année, travaillait à Halifax mais son avenir n'était pas encourageant. Elle s'est donc inscrite au programme Katimavik qui l'a initiée au travail physique comme couper des arbres dans les Rocheuses, aider à construire un centre communautaire dans des températures de moins de quarante degrés Celsius et travailler dans une garderie. Ce programme lui a aidé à être plus optimiste et lui a permis d'avoir plus de confiance elle-même.

Katimavik initie les jeunes à une grande variété d'activités qui leur ouvrent les portes à plusieurs horizons.

Une société plus juste!

Le ministre de la Justice, John Crosbie, un des politiciens les plus ternes de la Chambre des Communes, va enfin pouvoir faire ses preuves et faire oublier le désastreux budget du gouvernement Clark. En effet, il ne veut ni plus ni moins modifier la loi canadienne sur les droits de la personne pour y inclure entre autres, les droits des homosexuels et des femmes dans l'armée.

Un comité parlementaire a déposé, en octobre dernier, 85 recommandations pour modifier la loi canadienne sur les droits de la personne. De ce nombre, une minorité seulement a été retenue par le ministre.

Parmi celles-ci, se trouvent deux recommandations très controversées donner aux femmes dans l'armée l'accès aux unités de combat et interdire la discrimination basée sur l'orientation sexuelle.

Si la nouvelle loi est adoptée, on pourra bientôt voir des femmes occuper des postes dans les forces armées canadiennes qu'elles n'ont jamais pu occuper avant. Mais les féministes ne sont pas satisfaites de cette décision. Elles veulent que les tests d'entraînement, qui sont conçus pour les hommes, soient changés pour donner une chance égale à tous.

Présentement, les homosexuels n'ont accès à aucun poste des forces armées ou de la GRC. Ils sont immédiatement renvoyés pour des raisons de "menace à la sécurité nationale"! Les changements proposés devraient interdire une telle discrimination.

Parmi les projets de loi moins controversés, on retrouve l'abolition de la retraite obligatoire à 65 ans et, l'addition d'une clause spéciale à la loi canadienne sur les droits de la personne pour rendre obligatoire le salaire égal pour un travail égal.

De plus, si la loi est passée, toutes les installations fédérales devront être adaptées pour les handicapés physiques, d'ici 1994-1995. La loi sur les droits de la personne sera amendée pour forcer les compagnies de la couronne à assurer des chances d'emploi égales aux handicapés. Le droit de vote sera étendu aux déficients mentaux.

Devrait-on se réjouir des initiatives du gouvernement conservateur? Certes, c'est un pas en avant mais, ça n'avance pas vite. Dans l'armée, la sécurité nationale passe avant les droits des citoyens et les généraux ont le dernier mot. C'est eux qui décideront si un projet sera adapté à l'armée et quand il sera mis en vigueur.

En laissant tout ce pouvoir aux généraux, John Crosbie démontre qu'il n'est pas très engagé à entreprendre ces réformes. Le ministre a d'ailleurs évité d'attaquer d'autres dossiers chauds. Il n'est toujours pas question d'avortements libres et gratuits, pas plus que d'étendre le droit de vote aux prisonniers.

Donc, s'il n'y a pas de véritables progrès, pourquoi se donner tout ce mal? Tout porte à croire qu'il s'agit d'une tentative pour rehausser la popularité du Parti Conservateur qui en prend pour son rhume depuis quelques temps.

Entrevue avec Ginette Lafrenière

Le mandat de Ginette Lafrenière à la tête de l'AEF est terminé. Nous avons cru bon lui demander ses impressions après une année à un poste aussi important que celui de président.

Mademoiselle Lafrenière laisse en effet son poste car elle est finissante cette année et aussi parce qu'elle ambitionne de faire un voyage en Europe. "Beaucoup de bonnes choses ont eu lieu sous mon règne", nous dit-elle. "L'AEF est devenue membre de la FEO, les dettes ont été payées, une troupe de théâtre, les Wawarons, a été créée-lorsqu'elle reviendra de son voyage en décembre 86, elle aimerait travailler avec ce groupe et enfin, l'AEF a survécu les deux grèves de l'Université Laurentienne".

Malgré tout, l'ex-présidente n'est pas entièrement satisfaite. "La réalité du bilinguisme dans cette université n'est vraiment qu'utopie. Aussi, j'avais encore beaucoup de choses à faire car j'occupais un poste qui me permettait de voir tellement de choses que la majorité des étudiants ne voient pas," nous dit-elle.

Nous lui avons demandé de commenter la faible emprise des francophones à se présenter aux postes du conseil de l'AEF. Les étudiants sont peut-être fatigués, voire écoeurés des cours, des travaux en cette période de l'année, a-t-elle répondu. Cela explique selon elle qu'on assiste à une seule course électorale, soit au poste de vice-président. "Malgré le nombre de candidats élus par acclamation, les nouveaux membres du conseil ont un bagage d'expérience et, enchaîne-t-elle, "c'est beaucoup moins alarmant qu'en septembre 1985 où il restait encore des postes libres au sein de l'AEF."

Ginette Lafrenière remercie l'équipe de l'AEF et souhaite bonne chance au nouveau conseil. Elle suggère à celui-ci de bien répartir les responsabilités et qu'il est inutile de croire que l'on peut tout faire en une année. Enfin elle conclut: "Il faut continuer à lutter pour la francophonie dans l'université Laurentienne, il faut encourager la troupe de théâtre et surtout, garder l'esprit agressif que le conseil 1985-1986 a su faire naître."

La force d'un sourire

Tant de choses peuvent être dites par un simple sourire; c'est ce qui fait sa richesse. Peu importe où tu iras, ton sourire t'accompagnera.

Au cours de l'année précédente, j'ai eu l'occasion de donner un certain nombre de discours lors de banquets et autres. La première chose que je faisais toujours en me lavant, c'était offrir mon plus beau sourire aux spectateurs.

Dans les couloirs de l'école, en croisant mes amis, je leur offrais mon sourire. Sur la rue, si quelqu'un me saluait, je souriais à nouveau.

Un jour une personne m'a dit que la première chose en moi qui l'a frappé c'était mon sourire. Encore aujourd'hui, mon sourire m'accompagne partout où je vais. C'est la première impression qu'on donne aux gens qui compte le plus.

Un sourire exprime tant de choses. Tu peux montrer à une personne que tu l'aimes avec un sourire. A une autre personne, ton sourire démontre ton amitié. Avec ton sourire, tu indiques à ton interlocuteur que tu le trouve "ben all right".

Un sourire montre que tu es de bonne humeur. Il remonte le moral de tes amis quand ils se sentent découragés. Il montre que tu prends plaisir à ce que tu fais.

Un sourire, c'est si beau. C'est si simple à offrir. C'est le plus beau cadeau que tu puisses faire à une personne. Surtout, un sourire c'est contagieux.

Une brise d'été caresse nos visages
Un enfant naît.
La brise devient alizée,
L'enfant grandit.
Le vent s'élève,
L'adolescent apparaît.
La tempête éclate,
L'adolescent se rebelle.
Les intempéries s'exténuent, le soleil apparaît.
De l'adolescence émerge un adulte.
La main dans la main
L'enfant et la nature marchent.
Un conduit L'autre suit.
Un enseigne
L'autre apprend.
Une union parfaite.

La treizième Nuit sur l'Etang, une soirée spectaculaire, a eu lieu le 8 mars dernier, à l'auditorium Fraser. Quelques 800 Francophones, venus de tous les coins de l'Ontario, ainsi que quelques Québécois, étaient présents pour écouter environ une douzaine d'artistes francophones ontariens, tels que Robert Paquette, Michel Lalonde, Paul Demers, Sylvain Lavoie, Patrice Desbiens, Paul LaFrance, Paul Tanguay, Butch Bouchard, Yves Rochon, Steve Boily et Les Cubes, et Lynne Vallée.

Robert Paquette, artiste très familier à la Nuit, demeure toujours en demande même s'il a changé quelque peu son style ces dernières années. La chanson "Tous les chemins mènent à la Coulson" de Patrice Desbiens, poète et artiste, a été accueillie chaleureusement par le public. Somme toute, il y a eu des chansons pour tous les goûts. Le décor de palmiers fut la seule à être accueillie avec un oeil critique par quelques-uns.

Le décernement de quelques prix a eu lieu à différents moments de la soirée. Le peintre de Timmins, Clément Bérini, toucha le prix du Nouvel-Ontario, et la bourse Bertrand fut décernée à Michel Lalonde pour avoir interprété la chanson trouvée la plus originale, intitulée "La banlieue dortoir".

"Si nous sommes dans ce métier c'est par amour" disent Robert Paquette et les quelques autres artistes à une conférence de presse. Ces artistes franco-ontariens sont admirables. Ils demeurent dans un métier qui dépend du public pour vivre, et comme nous le savons bien le public est beaucoup plus grand du côté des Anglophones que du côté des Francophones, en Ontario comme ailleurs.

En plus, les chanteurs franco-ontariens ne sont pas très en demande au Québec, une province où le bon nombre d'artistes fait plutôt compétition à la France.

Donc, les artistes qui se présentent à la Nuit sur l'Etang, à part d'être plein de talent, sont très persévérants. Ils offrent un style tout à fait typique de la culture franco-ontarienne. "Nous n'écrivons pas en français standard ou international" cite Robert Paquette. Par l'entremise de la Nuit sur l'Etang, nous assistons à l'éveil de la culture bien distincte de l'Ontario français.

Aux Courses

L'université Laurentienne a envoyé trois membres de l'équipe piste et pelouse à l'université d'Alberta pour le Championnat Universitaire Canadien qui a eu lieu le 14 et le 15 mars.

Michelle Porter s'est placée quatrième dans le 1500 mètres avec un temps de 4.28.78 et sixième dans le 100 mètres avec un temps de 2.53.48.

Sandra Hamilton s'est placée sixième au lancer du poids avec un lancer de 11.71 mètres.

Charlotte Larose s'est distinguée au 60 mètres établissant un nouveau record de l'Université Laurentienne, avec un temps de 7.98 secondes. Malheureusement ce fut insuffisant pour mériter une place dans les finales.

Félicitations aux filles pour un bel effort et une bonne représentation de notre université.

ESPÉRONS

Comme vous devez tous le savoir, les séries éliminatoires de la ligue nationale de hockey approchent à grands pas. Dès lors, je me permets de me prononcer sur le sort du club de hockey Canadiens. Cette année, ils ont plusieurs chances d'avancer jusqu'aux finales, et qui sait, remporter la coupe Stanley? Ne serait-ce pas terrible, terrible, terrible?

Le tricolore, avec la qualité de jeu de Larry Robinson, Chris Chelios, Peter Svoboda, Mats Naslund, Bobby Smith et sans oublier Chris Tête de ciment Nilan pourront bien se tirer d'affaire. Cependant leur lacune demeure toujours leur inconsistance dans le but puisqu'aucun de leurs trois gardiens ne s'est distingué dans la défense de son filet. Cependant nous espérons que le jeune Patrick Roy pourra briller dans son enclave.

Dès lors, je fais appel à tous les partisans de réciter avec moi la profession de foi qui suit. Les partisans des Nordiques sont libres à eux. Selon les rumeurs, elle fut composée par Michel 'le Tigre' Bergeron, Dale Hunter et Peter Stasny lorsque ces derniers avaient trop bu d'Okeefe, suite à une défaite contre les Canadiens.

Les Eliminatoires

Le temps est venu encore une fois d'examiner la course aux éliminatoires de la ligue nationale de hockey. Même avec moins d'une dizaine de joutes dans la saison régulière, huit équipes sont déjà assurées de participer à la saison qui mène à la coupe Stanley. Les disputes pour les huit autres postes démontrent l'excitation préalable aux éliminatoires.

La Division Norris

La seule dispute est en vue de la première place car les quatre postes sont assurés. Chicago tient à se défendre contre les attaques de St-Louis et du Minnesota. Ces équipes appartenant à la plus faible division seront à surveiller cette année car elles pourraient en surprendre plusieurs. Ah oui, Toronto aura la chance de perdre dans les éliminatoires cette année grâce au jeu médiocre des millionnaires à Détroit. Les Wings sont déjà prêts à s'envoler vers le sud pour jouer au golf.

La Division Smythe

Il y a une équipe dans cette division (son nom m'échappe à l'instant), à qui la première place est déjà assurée. Calgary la suit en deuxième place, ce qui est incontestable depuis longtemps. Les trois équipes du sous-sol, Winnipeg, Las Angeles et Vancouver jouent en espérant de ne pas affronter et perdre contre Calgary et Edmonton dans les éliminatoires. Les acquisitions récentes qu'ont fait les Flames en Mullin et Tonnelli, leur donnent enfin, cette année, une chance de défaire Gretzky et les Oilers.

La Division Adams

Le feu chauffe au nord-est. Les adversaires de Québec et de Montréal s'affrontent alors que les Nordiques et les Canadiens se battent furieusement pour gagner le titre de la première place de la division et l'honneur d'être la meilleure équipe de la province. Boston, Buffalo et Hartford leur mènent aussi une lutte chaude. Le fait que Hartford ne se rend jamais aux éliminatoires est en question cette année car les Whalers courent une chance de rattraper les Sabres et même les Bruins avant la fin de la saison. Il est fort possible que Scotty devienne spectateur en avril.

La Division Patrick

Ron Duguay, le vétéran de la Vallée, retourne à son ancienne division avec les Penguins de

Pittsburg. Son équipe affronte les Rangers pour la quatrième place afin de participer aux séries éliminatoires. C'est une dispute intéressante mais pas aussi importante que celle des Flyers de Philadelphie et des Capitals de Washington. Les Capitals jouent très bien dernièrement et ils sont à surveiller dans les semaines à venir. Je crois qu'ils sont assez forts pour se rendre aux finales et remporter la coupe Stanley.

Avec neuf sports de terminés, la résidence du Collège universitaire est en tête, dans la course pour la coupe Molson, avec 900 points. Cette même résidence est en première place pour la coupe du Président avec 1300 points. Malgré ceci il reste quelques sports à terminer et n'importe quelle équipe a encore une chance de devenir le grand champion.

Last Rock

Cligue, claque, cligue, claque, clique, claque...tock...tock.

Tout le monde se souvient sans aucun doute du lancer spectaculaire qu'a effectué Al Hackner, le skip du Nord-Ontario, lors des finales du "Labatt Brier" de l'an passé. Grâce à cet événement remarquable, ce dernier a su nous faire honneur en représentant le Canada au "Silver Broom".

Cette année, le "Silver Broom" sera au Collisée du C.N.E. à Toronto, du 31 mars au 4 avril.

Ed Lukowich, un vétéran du curling, n'est pas un étranger à cette compétition internationale et est parmi les favoris au tournoi cette année. Toujours calme, une paille de son balai à la bouche, Lukowich tentera de défendre le championnat pour Hackner, qui a choisi de ne pas faire partie de la compétition cette année.

Le Silver Broom prendra place au Collisée du C.N.E. où l'on retrouve la plus grande étendue de glace au monde. Les organisateurs prévoient que le tournoi de cette année sera le meilleur jamais. En plus, plusieurs joutes s'avèrent intéressantes et prendront place devant un grand nombre de spectateurs.

Espérons que Monsieur Lukowich ait la dernière pierre dans la dixième manche de la finale du championnat, pour ensuite hausser le balai d'argent appartenant à l'équipe victorieuse.

Le 14 avril 1986, à 1h 35 de l'après-midi, les Blue Jays de Toronto joueront à domicile leur première joute de la saison 1986-1987.

L'équipe est en grande partie la même que l'an passé avec quelques postes à remplir. Parmi les changements on retrouve, au poste d'entraîneur, Jimmy Williams au lieu de Bobby Cox.

Un changement plus récent, dont Garcia n'est pas en faveur, est la nouvelle position dans l'ordre au baton. Williams a choisi de mettre Lloyd Moseby 'a la première position et Garcia à la neuvième (pour le moment).

C'est une nouvelle année avec de nouveaux buts et de nouvelles attentes. Les Jays aimeraient répéter leur exploit de l'an dernier en tant que champions de la ligue Américaine Est et corriger leurs erreurs pour se rendre aux séries mondiales.

C'est une tâche très difficile que très peu d'équipes peuvent accomplir. Kansas City a réussi cet exploit l'an dernier.

La division la plus compétitive au baseball nous présentera sûrement de bonnes joutes au cours de l'année. Espérons que les Blue Jays célébreront plus que jamais, cette année, puisque c'est leur dixième anniversaire. O.K., O.K., Blue Jays, Blue Jays... Let's... Play... Ball.

Théâtre

Le théâtre du Nouvel-Ontario tente de devenir propriétaire de l'édifice situé à 90 rue King afin de développer un centre d'activités artistiques francophones.

Le gouvernement de l'Ontario, par l'entremise du Bureau des affaires francophones, subventionnera ce projet. La subvention de 14,333.00$ aidera à défrayer en partie les coûts d'une étude qui déterminera la praticabilité de ce projet.

Puisque le Bureau des affaires francophones appuie ce projet, le T.N.O. est éligible à recevoir une subvention additionnelle de la part du ministère des affaires civiques et culturelles qui aiderait aussi à payer les coûts de cette étude. Cette étude est divisée en trois phases dont la première devrait être terminée pour le mois d'avril 1986.

Ce nouveau projet permettra au

TNO de grandir et d'assumer une position d'importance au sein des institutions artistiques francophones de la province.
